More than 70 million Americans live with a digestive disease including Crohn's, ulcerative colitis, irritable bowel syndrome, celiac disease, and cancers (colorectal, pancreatic, liver, and stomach). Millions of patients struggle with debilitating, and sometimes fatal, consequences. While prevention and treatments are improving, many digestive diseases do not have a cure, YET.

That's where you and the GI Research Foundation come in. With your support, we are funding groundbreaking research by our partner, the world-renowned University of Chicago Medicine. Our process of getting dollars into the hands of leading researchers is nimble, responsive, and patient centered.

As a grateful gastroenterology patient, Larry A. Pogofsky embraced our research mission, serving as a Board leader and Foundation President. Larry, one of the original Chicago White Sox investors, was also a die-hard baseball fan. We are proud to present the All-Star Challenge on the Greens, which honors Larry's love for sports and continues his legacy of funding critical and groundbreaking medical research. We hope you will join us.

2023 LAP All-Star Challenge line-up included Marcus Allen, Jerry Azumah, Harold Baines, Neal Cotts, Joe Crede, Jermaine Dye, Carl Everett, Cliff Floyd, Jerry Fontenot, Freddy Garcia, Chuck Garfein, Jon Garland, Willie Gault, Adam Greenberg, Ozzie Guillen, Toby Hall, Edward "Eddie" Jones, Jason Kipnis, Mark McMillian, Christian Okoye, Dan Pasqua, Adam Russell, Reid Simpson, DB Sweeney, Carlos Zambrano
